

Hafilat Industries bags major contract to supply buses to Australia

BI-ME reported that UAE based Hafilat Industries, a leading manufacturer of quality aluminum buses licensed by Australia's Volgren, has won an AED 30 million contract to produce and export buses to Australia.

The contract states that Hafilat will build Volgren's New Generation City Bus' on a Euro IV Mercedes Benz chassis originating from Spain, all of which will feature multiplexed electrics, sophisticated video surveillance, electronic signage and a full aluminum body.

As per report, the production of these buses would be commenced this month at Hafilat's 10,000 square meter factory located in ICAD at Mussafah in Abu Dhabi and will take approximately four months.

Mr Obaid Sughair Qubaisi director of Hafilat said "This agreement is a major milestone in the bus manufacturing industry of the UAE. It will also benefit the UAE's basic industries through the purchase of locally manufactured glass and aluminum and materials from small to medium businesses. We have won this contract because of our commitment to the highest standards of manufacturing, a commitment which will continue to benefit the country as the UAE develops its own intensive public bus network."

Hafilat Industries is a joint venture between socialized Investment Group, Emirates Link Group and Volgren.
